Focus	You Said	We Did
Accessing academic materials online such as revision.	When using the website to access materials for revision the area was empty.	We investigated the issue and made the necessary changes. The revision section is now fully operational and available for students to use when preparing for assessments.
Parental engagement through workshops.	With the success of the reading cafes parents have requested more opportunities for workshops to support their child.	Parental and community engagement is a key priority within our school improvement plans. We are developing a programme of workshops for parents and the wider community, which will be launched during the 2026-27 academic year.
Academic reports.	Is there a possibility to make parents aware there is a section of information on the back of the report and to remove colours from attainment section.	We have reviewed and quality assured our reporting process. Several revised report formats have been developed and will be shared with the Parent Advisory Forum to gather further feedback before any changes are finalised.
